

THROUGH THE EYES OF A CHILD

for SAB voices, accompanied*

Words and Music by MARK BURROWS and
GREG GILPIN (ASCAP)

4 S., A., unis. 5 p

BARITONE Do you still gaze in won-der at the stars up in the 8 sky?

p Do you still dream of soar-ing as you watch the ea-gle

12 13 mp

mp Can you still see the world for all the good it has to fly?

16 unis. p

give? p When you look at life through the eyes of a child,

19 poco rit. mp 21 a tempo

that's when you tru - ly live. mp Through the eyes of a child, we see what life is tru-ly meant to be. Through the 25 unis.

22

eyes of a child, we see the pos-si-bil-i-ties,
When

28
then sud-den-ly, life is more worth - while.
hearts are o-pen, minds are free, then sud-den-ly, life is more worth - while.

31

35 mp
Can you still feel the mag - ic of a hol - i - day sur - prise? Can you still see the laugh-ter in a moth-er's lov-ing

38

42 43
eyes? Can you still see the world for all the

45 unis. p
 good it has to give? When you look at life through the 45 p

48 cresc. mf
 eyes of a child, that's when you truly live. Through the 48 cresc. mf

51
 eyes of a child, we see what life is truly meant to 54 unis.

 be. Through the eyes of a child, we see the possibilities, 54 When

58
 then suddenly, life is more worth-58 hearts are open, minds are free, then suddenly, life is more worth-

60 1. 2.
 while! Through the while!

64

relax tempo
unis. p

When you look at life through the 67

molto rit.

eyes of a child, —

That's when you tru - ly live.